TIPS FROM THE PROS:

Ball Position:

This could be the reason for a bad shot, not because of a bad swing. Ball position is important because it dictates the path, angle of attack, dynamic loft at impact, which directly affects the ball flight, trajectory, and spin. For a consistent and powerful shot, you must place the ball in the correct position for the specific club you are using. A change in ball position can cause a shot to become a pull, push, or fat shot.
